NEW HONEYWELL PET AIR PURIFIER HELPS REDUCE PET ALLERGENS AND ODORS FROM THE HOME

Product Helps Capture Pet Dander*

SOUTHBOROUGH, Mass., December 14, 2010 – For homes with pets, the new Honeywell PET CleanAir™ tabletop air purifier is the perfect complement. The Honeywell PET CleanAir™ tabletop air purifier is designed to help pet owners decrease the presence of troublesome allergens and odors in their homes and create fresher, cleaner indoor air.

The Honeywell PET CleanAir™ tabletop air purifier captures up to 95% of airborne allergens such as pet hair, pet dander, and other allergens from the air that passes through its filter. The product features a three-stage filter system that quietly circulates and filters the air in an 8'x10' room up to five times an hour. The specially formulated pre-filter has the perfect blend of carbon and zeolite to help reduce airborne odors from pet bed or litter box areas. The compact air purifier captures particles and odors in a hepa-type filter and releases fresher, cleaner air back into the room. The PET CleanAir™ tabletop air purifier features three speeds and an optional on/off ionizer that can deliver extra cleaning power when desired. An electronic filter indicator light reminds pet owners when to check and change the filter. Great for small areas, the product's compact, space-saving design enables it to be placed in either horizontal or vertical positions for tight spaces.

The Honeywell PET CleanAir™ tabletop air purifier is available at Home Depot, Amazon.com and Kaz.com.
